

The Heart of Texas

In many cases, the University of Texas (and they wouldn't mind us mentioning this) is larger than life. After all, isn't everything bigger in Texas?

And really, it's tough to disagree. The Greater Austin metro area has a population of 1.6 million people. UT's 350-acre main campus employs 21,000 faculty and staff while serving as the educational grounds for nearly 50,000 students, many of whom are members of one or more of the 900 registered student organizations.

Impacting the campus and community for Christ sounds like a great vision, but where do you begin?
