

The Word

Ready:

“The tempter came to him and said, ‘If You are the Son of God, tell these stones to become bread.’ He answered, ‘It is written: ‘Man must not live on bread alone but on every word that comes from the mouth of God.’” -- Matthew 4:3-4

Set

Throughout my years of training as a wheelchair athlete, I’ve found that memorizing and reciting Bible verses helps me in many ways. It helps me to stay focused, get to sleep and stay calm in anxious moments.

Prior to a race, I often recite a verse in my mind to calm my heart. I know that God is going with me as I race and that He will give me what I need on that particular day. One of my strengths as a wheelchair racer is my endurance, but I’m usually slow off the start. Once, one of my coaches shouted at me after a race about my slow start: “What were you thinking? Where was your mind, anyway?”

I didn’t tell her that my thoughts were fixed on God and His Word, which gave me power that day. His Word continues to give me that same power every day as I compete and strive to live up to my highest potential.

Go

- How do you apply God’s Word to your training and as you compete?
- What are the distractions in your life that make it difficult for you to focus on His Word?

Workout

Proverbs 30:5

Ephesians 6:10-18

Overtime

“Father, help me to realize the importance of Your Word. Let my mind retain what I read so that I may carry Your wisdom in my heart and apply it to each new situation. Amen.”
