

Faithful to the Cause

Back in 1973, God had a plan for Steve Robinson, who's become one of the most influential FCA staff members in the Tennessee area. When he joined FCA, the former Tennessee Volunteer football player was promised a year's salary, a company car and the opportunity to travel through a mission field ripe for spiritual growth within Nashville and Middle Tennessee. The young ministry had a foothold in just 15 area schools at the time. Now, by God's favor and grace, FCA's influence can be felt in 234 schools across the region and in a growing number of FCA events, summer camps and retreats. Robinson will quickly deflect any praise to those working around him, but he is directly responsible for much of the growth in the area.
