Ready:

"My dearly loved brothers, understand this: everyone must be quick to hear, slow to speak, and slow to anger…"
-James 1:19

In more than two decades of marriage, University of Georgia Head Football Coach Mark Richt and his wife, Katharyn, have learned valuable lessons about three very popular things in FCA: faith, family and football. Today, we're continuing our four-part video devotion series based on the Richts' recent interview with FCA's Sharing the Victory magazine.

To access the video, click the link below to watch or download the clip. After you've watched the short video, take time to answer the questions below. Finish by reading the related Scripture and asking God to work in your heart as a result of what you've learned.

1. When it comes to interacting with others, do you react immediately or respond thoughtfully?
2. When someone poses a difficult question to you, do you ever stop to pray about it? Why or why not?

3. Why is it important to resist the temptation to respond immediately in every situation?

4. When should we stop and pray through decisions? When should we respond immediately? How can we tell what is the best thing to do in each situation?
